Information about deaths before the expansion of the local press is limited. All I have been able to find is the following:

Barrow, Furness and North Western Daily Times Monday 28 August 1871:

An inquest was held on Saturday afternoon, before Dr. Hall, deputy coroner, on Robert Jones, a boy of six years of age, who was found drowned the previous day. A verdict of 'Found drowned' was returned.

Where did Robert live? His death was registered in Dalton in 1871.

A Robert Jones was born in Dalton in 1865 (Cumbria BMD D/18/98), with his mother's maiden name being McDonnell. There is no Jones/McDonnell (or McDonnell) marriages recorded on Cumbria BMD.

Where is Low Haume: a pond/lake, or coastal? High Haume is a summit between Dalton and Askam, behind Greenscoe Quarry.
