Same place, on the 22nd Mr. John Ashburner, ship carpenter, aged 53 years.

Death notice from the appropriately named Barrow Pilot newspaper 29 June 1872. 'Same place' was used to denote that he died in the same town, i.e. Barrow, as the previous death in the list. Note that his wife died less than a week later.

Was he part of the shipbuilding family/firm of Ashburner, who built schooners (and no doubt other types of ship) in the early days of Barrow?
